

engcon at CONEXPO/CON-AGG in Las Vegas – focus on innovation and increased efficiency

engcon, the world's leading manufacturer of tiltrotators, will participate at CONEXPO/CON-AGG 2026 on March 3–7. During the show, engcon will demonstrate how the company's tiltrotators are transforming the excavation industry by increased productivity, efficiency and safety for end customers around the world.

“CONEXPO/CON-AGG is an important meeting place for the industry and a natural forum for us to showcase how our solutions can make a real difference in the everyday work of the end user. We look forward to meeting contractors, machine operators and partners from all over the world”, says Krister Blomgren, CEO at engcon.

At booth F39004 on the Festival Grounds, engcon's experienced demo operators will showcase the company's latest tiltrotator solutions and smart features designed to streamline the work of machine operators. The booth will also include two machines available for test operation, giving visitors the chance to experience how engcon's solutions provide an investment that strengthens their competitiveness and profitability.

In addition to engcon's world-leading tiltrotators, a wide range of both hydraulic and mechanical tools will be on display. engcon will also present its new innovative S-type couplers, the latest DC3 control system, and of course EC-Oil – the system enabling fast and safe tool changes directly from the cab – quickly, conveniently and easily.
